RELIEF LOAD DOWN IN JULY

Director Burns Reports Decline from County Cost in June.

The relief load in Marion city increased 35 cases during July, as compared to June, while four fewer cases were on the county roll, a report of Relief Director Frank S. Burns shows.

In the city a total of 176 families and 136 individuals received relief orders during July as compared to 144 families and 129 individuals in June. The county rolls for July included 36 family units and 10 individuals as compared to 41 families and nine individuals for June.

Mr. Burns said that a large share of the increase was due to recent WPA lay-offs which made it necessary to transfer a number of cases to direct and work relief lists. Fifty-one of the 77 new city cases opened during the month and three of the nine new cases in the county were of this type. Twenty-nine city and 20 county cases were dropped during July.

Relief costs in the city and county increased from $3,777.55 in June to $3,996.33 in July, the city spending $3,393.76 in July as compared to $3,061.45 in June and the county costs amounting to $597.57 for July as compared to $716.10 for June. These figures include administrative costs which in July amounted to $627.20 for the city and $176.47 for the county. The cost of administration during June amounted to $595.73 for the city and $205.48 for the county.

MARION COUNTY WOMEN LEAVE FOR 4-DAY OUTING

A group of Marion county farm women joined women from Wyandot, Crawford and Seneca counties today at Camp Pittenger, east of McCutchenville, for a four-day combined outing and vacation from their work as rural homemakers. Registrations were scheduled for this afternoon and the camp will "break up" Sunday afternoon.

Old and comfortable clothing was the order of the day. There will be entertainment including a special program tonight consisting of pictures shown by E. T. Rodgers of Tiffin taken on a recent Mexican trip, classes, hikes, appreciation hours and other features.

On the camp staff will be Miss Mary Wiseman, Crawford county home demonstration agent and Miss Doris Snook, Seneca county home demonstration agent.

DAVEY'S SON AT RALLY IN UPPER SANDUSKY

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 8—Martin L. Davey Jr. of Kent, son of former Gov. Davey, was a visitor in Upper Sandusky Wednesday afternoon addressing a meeting of young Democrats and county candidates at the court house at 1 p. m. Plans for the coming campaign were discussed.

WYANDOT CO. COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 8—Miss Gladys Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown of east of here, and Raymond Rall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rall Sr. of Mifflin township, were united in marriage Wednesday.

Vows were exchanged before Rev. John R. Forrer, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, during the celebration of nuptial high mass at the church. Attending the couple were Miss Ethel Brown, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Mrs. Adrian Rall, as bridesmaid, and Adrian Rall, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

The wedding party including the parents of the couple were entertained at a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left on a trip and upon their return will reside in Mifflin township.

MT. GILEAD CIGARET MACHINES RAIDED

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 8—At least three cigaret vending machines in business places here were raided by unidentified persons in the last few days, proprietors of the establishments reporting to authorities that the machines were filled with slugs. One owner said he did not object so much to the theft of the cigarets as he did to paying the raiders three cents in cash to carry them away. Each package has three cents change in it.

The Cuban government has prohibited the use of coloring matters in the manufacture of oleomargarine and other artificial butters not made from the fat content of milk.

PROBE INJURY TO AIR HOSTESS

Young Stewardess Found in Plane's Baggage Room in Hysterical Condition.

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8—Federal authorities, local police and officials of American Airlines delved today into mysterious circumstances surrounding the injury of a 24-year-old stewardess found unconscious aboard one of the company's trans-continental sky sleepers shortly before it landed here last night.

The girl, Miss Rosemary Griffith of New York City, was found by passengers of the west-bound plane unconscious in the baggage compartment of the ship. She was taken to a hospital in a hysterical condition.

Airline officials expressed belief that the injuries were the result of an accident rather than foul play.

Attaches of the hospital said X Rays disclosed she had swallowed a small key. Before this disclosure investigating officers had conducted a thorough search for the luggage room key which they said the stewardess had in her possession.

She was reported to be suffering from body and head abrasions which hospital authorities said were not serious.

Tom Phelps, municipal airport policeman, said he had been notified to meet two federal bureau of investigation agents due to arrive here this morning to check the grounded plane.

U. S. Deputy Marshal Glen Nelson said an unidentified passenger told him the stewardess' absence was noticed by passengers when the temperature in the plane was not regulated.

"I revived her a bit," Nelson quoted the passenger, "and she leaned over and whispered something to one of the pilots. She was very much in a daze."

Natives and Lack of Supplies May Hit Duce's Drive

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Signor Mussolini has hewed off for himself a considerable piece of Britain's hot and inhospitable Somaliland but, while in theory this may have advanced him toward control of the southern gateway to the Suez canal, one suspects that practically he may find it a mixed blessing.

There is more than meets the eye in the seeming complacence of the English as they pursue what they describe as a strategy of 'active defense' and give ground to numerically superior invaders. The reasons are several.

Supplies Scarce

For one thing there are no supplies for the Italians in either British Somaliland or in adjoining French Somaliland which they are using as a base. They must depend on what they have in their African possessions for the Suez canal—only direct communication with Italy—is closed to them.

Then the Fascist forces likely are headed into a bunch of grief with the Somalis. These natives are a hard lot whom the British finally got in hand after years of warfare but who will fight at the drop of the hat. They are anti-everything that's foreign and the Italians must expect to have to conquer them before consolidating their gains.

Beyond all this however is the fact that Il Duce can't get control of the Suez canal and the eastern Mediterranean without smashing Egypt and ousting the British. He has troops massed on the Libyan border presumably ready for the assault—but one wonders whether he won't pause before sending his forces out to make their way across more than 400 miles of blazing desert with every oasis and water hole heavily guarded by the British.

Depends On Hitler

Or to get right down to cases the outcome of this whole African show is likely to be determined not on the Sahara but on the English channel for as Hitler's blitzkrieg against England goes so will go the conflict on the dark continent.

Should the Italians undertake the assault on Egypt we shall have a campaign that will present the other extreme of the terrible conditions under which the Russo Finnish war was waged. Then wounded soldiers froze stiff as they fell in the killing temperature of 52 degrees below zero. Now men will be called to fight under a sun which registers maybe 125 and produces a soil temperature of 175 degrees.

1 DEAD AS HURRICANE STRIKES GULF STATES

Property Damage High in Texas and Louisiana.

By The Associated Press

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Aug. 8—A trophical hurricane blew itself out inland today after killing at least one person, injuring 10 and damaging property in the Sabine area of Texas and Louisiana.

Scores were marooned as 75 mile winds roared into Texas from the east and struck Port Arthur, Orange and Beaumont.

Houses were unroofed, trees uprooted and advertising signs sent whirling through the air. Six persons were injured at Port Arthur and three at Beaumont where damage to windows and small buildings was widespread. None of the injured was reported hurt seriously.

Unofficially damage was estimated at Porth Arthur at $100,000. Jefferson County Agent J. F. Combs said damage to the rice crop in that section might reach $500,000.

WILLKIE ASKS AID OF LANDON, HOOVER

Wants Support for Demands for Hatch Changes.

By The Associated Press

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 8 — Aids of Wendell L. Willkie said today he would ask former President Herbert Hoover and Alf M. Landon, the 1936 Republican nominee, to support his demand for broad amendments to the Hatch anti-politics law.

Willkie told his press conference yesterday the existing act should be amended to require the president, cabinet officers and all other now exempt officials to file sworn statements of their assets upon taking office and upon leaving office.

He added that another desirable amendment would be a provision prohibiting any member of a family of an official from receiving compensation for representing clients before federal agencies.

The Republican nominee will have a luncheon conference with Landon at his resort hotel here next Tuesday. He will see Hoover at Denver some time next week. He first planned to meet Hoover somewhere in Montana, but the former president very kindly agreed to come to Denver, Willkie said.

Campaign issues and strategy also will be discussed with Landon and Hoover, Willkie said.

BRITISH

storage depot five miles south of Bergen.

Reports from the attacking Stukas (British bombers) indicated that the entire gasoline depot had been destroyed.

Describing the channel air battle the air ministry said "a number of engagements took place and the destruction of several other German planes had been reported without full confirmation.

Nazis Attack Ships

Earlier a German bomber attack on a small shipping convoy off England's southeastern coast had been reported with indications that the Nazi raids were increasing in intensity with particular attention to that area.

Other bombers appeared twice over a southeast town.

Attacks however appeared to be limited in scope and most of the invaders flew at high altitudes apparently on reconnaissance. British fighters went up to intercept them, then began a continuous patrol.

Bombs were dropped over other sections apparently by lone planes. No particular damage was reported.

The day's air activity followed a night of raids on English, Welsh and Scottish points.

Hitler Leaves Card

Leaflets containing excerpts from Adolf Hitler's peace or destruction ultimatum also were dropped again.

In the night raids the government announced casualties were "very few" though some women walking on a country road were seriously injured. Damage was slight except in one town in the northeast England where a sanatorium and shop property suffered considerably."

In Africa Italians held the port of Zeila seized in a short march from French Somaliland and aimed a principal drive across British Somaliland toward Berbera. The British said massed Libyan troops had not yet pushed across the frontier into the west Egyptian desert.

In France the new supreme court was called to its first session today at Riom with its No. 1 job a lengthy far reaching investigation to fix the blame for France's war blunders and a punish the guilty.

Hungary served notice on Rumania that she would be content with no less than 75 per cent of the Rumanian province of Transylvania in their territorial dispute in which Adolf Hitler is said to have advised Rumania to settle promptly. Rumanian negotiations with Bulgaria over the latter's claims on southern Dobruja were scheduled to open today.

Rumania closing close to the Nazi pattern worked out new laws limiting the rights and activities of Jews and making them liable to special taxes.

JAP FISHING FLEET NEAR U. S. TERRITORY

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 8 — A Japanese fishing fleet operating within sight of United States-owned St. Lawrence island was reported today by John Cross, a fisherman just returned from the island.

Cross said he saw one large boat and several smaller craft, including power launches.

He said both natives and whites on the island were alarmed by presence of the fleet, which they believed to be whaling or sealing.

St. Lawrence is the largest island off the west coast of Alaska. It lies nearly 100 miles off Norton sound and is much closer to the Siberian mainland than to the rest of the United States' territory.

GROWS MUSTACHE

Vandals Deface Painting of Ohio's Gov. Lucas.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8—The oil portrait of one of Ohio's pioneer governors, Robert Lucas, which hangs in the capitol building today bore a freshly pencilled flowing black mustache.

In contrast with the sharp features and snow white hair of the former state executive the mustache presents a grotesque appearance when the light falls on the painting at a certain agle.

State house attaches suspect a boyish prank. Lucas was governor from 1832 to 1836.

HIS BEARD STAYS

Harry (Pittsburgh Phil) Strauss (above) appears in Brooklyn, N. Y. court charged with murder in connection with probe of "Murder Inc." He still wears the beard the district attorney vainly attempted to have removed on grounds that witnesses could not identify him.

James Rein, both of Marion, will accompany him, it probably will not be closed permanently until Sept. 1. Files and official records are being shipped to Chicago where they will be set up at Mr. Abel's headquarters in the Morrison Hotel. Charles P. McCann of Newark, N. J. who is now grand worthy vice president probably will be elevated to Mr. Abel's post.

Mr. Abel reported that Mrs. Abel will accompany him to the national convention. She has been with him on a majority of his trips during the past year. Their traveling has been done by automobile, train and airplane but usually by train when convenient schedules could be arranged. Mr. Abel made several trips by air including journeys from Columbus to New York City, Boston and to Kansas City.

To Become Trustees' Chairman

By virtue of the post he has held during the past year, Mr. Abel will become chairman of the board of grand trustees. He began his career in lodge work when he was elected secretary of the Marion order in 1912 a post which he has held constantly although the work has been directed by an assistant during the past several years. He was state president of the Ohio Aerie in 1927 and served as a grand trustee in 1930 and 1931, became grand worthy vice president in 1938 and grand worthy president last year.

Mr. Abel reported he has made no definite plans for future activity after he retires from office this month.

BUSINESS GAINS FOR JULY LISTED BY U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—Business continued to improve in July, Secretary of Commerce Hopkins said today but he described the gain as moderate compared with the sharp rise in June.

The general situation he said is well suported at this time by a large volume of unfilled orders and active consumer purchasing.

"Although inventories are not much below the peak to which they were pushed in March by last fall's buying wave, he added, there is no further accumulation of any significance taking place in total holdings at this time.

Failure of commodity and security prices to respond to the increased volume of trade was traced by Hopkins to the "international political and military situation." He reported a downward trend in prices of sensitive commodities.

But the status of prices is not due to any fundamental weakness in domestic economic conditions, he said, and is no sign that business recovery is running out.

PEACE

mighty God for His blessing on our country and for the establishment of a just and permanent peace among all the nations of the world.

Now, therefore, I Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby set aside Sunday, September 8, 1940, as a day of prayer and I urge the people of the United States of all creeds and denominations to pray on that day in their churches or at their homes on the high seas or wherever they may be beseeching the Ruler of the Universe to bless our republic to make us reverently grateful for our heritage and firm in its defense and to grant to this land and to the troubled world a righteous, enduring peace.

DONAHEY OPPOSES DRAFT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—Calling the Burke-Wadsworth conscription proposal an unprecedented expedient, Senator Donahey (D. Ohio) announced today he intended to vote against the measure. He suggested a system of voluntary enlistments for home defense purposes with pay for enrollees set at $38 a month.

TAVERN BURGLARIZED AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Thieves Take $60 and Half Case of Beer.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 8—The popular Bow and Arrow tavern at the south edge of Upper Sandusky on route 23 was entered some time early this morning and about $60 in money, a quantity of nuts and gum and a half case of beer were taken. It was the third burglary at the tavern within a year.

The money was taken from a music box and cigaret machine to which the burglar had found keys and from the cash drawer where a small sum in change was left by the proprietors, Mrs. Edith Milligan and Mrs. Grover Long, when they closed the tavern about midnight.

Night Policemen Charles Schnabel and Harold Maffett said that everything appeared to be all right when they made the round at 1:30 a. m. but that when they returned at 2:10 they found that a window on the north side had been pried open.

Mrs. Milligan told police that as she and Mrs. Long were looking up they heard a car door slam and their watch dog began to growl but that when they went outside there was no car in sight.

Police said the burglar evidently wore gloves since no fingerprints were found on the window or any place in the tavern.

INDIA

India which would enable her to do so should be achieved as early as date as possible.

Amery had an audience with King George VI yesterday.

Some quarters believed Britain girding her forces for bigger battles to come may give Premier Mussolini a "cheap victory" in British Somaliland by withdrawing from desert wastes considered not worth defending.

By satisfying India's claims Britain would be in a position to marshal overwhelming forces to crush Italian expansion in the Mediterranean area, according to the British view. With Japan threatening to expand southward and Italy seeking to rule over the Moslem world, India's interest in a British victory has become increasingly keener.

India already is contributing substantially to the British war effort but the contribution is small compared to her potentialities. Only "token" troops took part in the war on the western front before the French collapse forced their withdrawal.

Troops Help Out

Indian troops in Egypt and Aden help guard the Red sea toward which the Italians are driving. Indian soldiers form part of a defense system vital to the Singapore naval base and India also is an important source of supply for the British armies.

The Indian princes have been pouring gold into the British war effort. The Nizam of Hyderabad alone contributed $400,000 to buy warplanes. The fact that the princes are interested in perpetuating their thrones however complicates the constitutional question in any attempt to satisfy independence demands.

The princes rely upon their old treaty rights to maintain their privileges. Mohandas K. Gandhi however retorts that "the princes cannot hold out against the millions who have become conscious of their power."

Gandhi's Stand

Gandhi, leader of the independence-seeking nationalists declared in a recent plea urging Britain to abandon war for non violence that he did not want Britain to be defeated nor do I want her to be victorious in a trial of brute strength."

Realists in India however are prepared to go all out to help Britain thwart any German, Italian or Japanese ambitions on the ground that any kind of British rule is preferable to what new conquerors might offer.

STATE CONTRACT UPHELD

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8—Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor's award to Ohio Delivery, Inc., of a contract to haul 4,000,000 cases of liquor carried the approval of a district appeals court today. Charles S. Leasure of Zanesville and Aller & Sharp, the appellants, contended Ohio delivery's bid was not lowest and best.

A New York state police officer has compiled a file of more than 50,000 garment markings used by laundries and dry cleaners to assist in crime detection.

About Fifth of Liberty's Population Joins Army

By The Associated Press

LIBERTY, Aug. 8—About a fifth of this town's population has joined the army—and residents say the record is proof of willingness to fight for what gave the town its name.

Sixty-six have signed up this week, bringing to more than 100 the number enlisted during the last 30 days. The population is a little more than 500.

NAZIS REPORT MINING OF ENGLISH HARBORS

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 8 — German planes laid mines at the entrances to several English harbors last night and attacked a number of armament works and anti-aircraft and searchlight positions, the German high command announced today.

The high command's daily communique said motor works in Leyland, the Vickers Armstrong plant at Chester, airplane works at Leeds and industrial plants at Plymouth, Newcastle, Bristol, bombers used in the British defense positions at Manchester, Cardiff, Dorchester and Plymouth as additional objectives.

WOMAN'S PURSE GRABBED ON WEST CENTER STREET

Marion's first purse-snatching case in several months netted the thief only 38 cents and a compact.

The theft was reported to police by Miss Louise Iseli of 312 South Vine, who said a man about 23 years old grabbed her white leather purse about 11 o'clock last night while she was walking near the J. C. Penney department store on West Center street between Prospect and Oak streets.

The youth fled on an alley beside the store and jumped into an automobile in which another young man was waiting, Miss Iseli said.

JAPAN'S PARLIAMENT STRIKES AT ENGLAND

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Aug. 8—One hundred and forty-six members of the diet (parliament) adopted a resolution today urging the government to take all available and effective measures to drive British influence from east Asia.

Britain's acts of prominent Japanese business men in her empire were declared purely retaliatory and unpardonably atrocious acts.

There are 466 members in the Japanese diet.

ROOSEVELT MAY MAP HIS CAMPAIGN TODAY

President To Confer with Wallace and Hopkins.

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 8—A conference with Secretaries Wallace and Hopkins, which may set the course for the Democratic campaign was the major item on President Roosevelt's schedule today.

There was nothing to indicate whether the three would disclose immediately any strategy that might be devised, particularly since Wallace the vice presidential nominee has said he would keep out of the political arena until he has accepted his nomination officially. He will do that about Aug. 20.

From then on he is expected to shoulder the big share of the job of campaigning. Mr. Roosevelt has asserted he could get no political licks because of world conditions the defense program and the continuing session of congress.

The reason for Hopkins participation in the conference was not disclosed but he is a close friend of the President and figured prominently in convention maneuvers which resulted in the third term nomination and selection of Wallace for a running mate.

Arrangements for a week end presidential inspection of naval defense machinery remained a secret. The signs pointed however to his leaving here tomorrow night and heading into New England.

Mr. Fikany's Wife Had Sore Feet, So He Invents a New Kind of Shoe

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — When Mrs. [illegible] D Roosevelt has time to see [illegible]mes Fikany and when [illegible]kany has time to see her, [illegible] become the possessor of [illegible] pair of silver-and-gold [illegible]g slippers boasting a T-strap.

[illegible] pair of sport shoes of [illegible] gabardine, trimmed with brown patent leather and equipped with the regulation instep strap.

And her feet will feel fine.

This will be very soon, now, because Mr Roosevelt likes Mr Fikany's shoes—and therein lies a tale.

The key to this tale is a number

U S patent No 2 044 751

Two-score years as a cobbler and the expenditure of his life savings of $90 000 is the reason James Fikany can make Mrs. Roosevelt's feet feel fine A secondary reason is that Mrs. Fikany had 'terrible trouble' with her feet nine years ago

Mr Fikany who always looks at a foot before a face watched her limp out, bit his lip and started thinking He thought and he thought and finally began work on a little metallic device now known as U S patent No 2 044 751

It took the cobbler now 56 four years to perfect the device that has taken him from his tiny shop to a large shoe factory in Rochester N Y where he plans to turn out 1 500 pairs of Fikany adjustable arch shoes daily with the aid of 300 employes he already has hired

Four thousand pair already grace and brace the feet of many ladies throughout the land Mrs Roosevelt has bought 16 pair

3 VEHICLES DAMAGED AS DRIVER SNOOZES

Truck Damages Two Parked Cars on N. Main St.

Two automobiles and a truck were damaged about 4 a. m. today when a Columbus truck driver, Clyde P. Baumann, fell asleep.

The cars, owned by Paul Music of 542 North Main street and Miss Marietta Sunsera of 562 Herman street, were parked on the east side of Main street and the truck driven by Mr. Baumann was northbound on Main, police reported. The truck struck the rear of the Music car, shoving it into the Sunsera auto, badly damaging both. Police quoted Mr. Baumann as saying he fell asleep a moment before the crash.

Cars driven by Melvin G. Weston and Clara Haley, both of near Marion, were badly damaged when they collided at Uncapher avenue and Congress street yesterday, police reported.

Velroy Clouse of 885 West Center street escaped uninjured when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car driven by Charles Brunner of 325 Pearl street at Orchard street and Holmes place. Clouse told officers he failed to see the car approaching and started across Orchard street in front of it.

No Distress Now after his meals

MR. JOHN W. MALEY, Commander of Chapter 13, Disabled Veterans of World War, Springfield, Ohio, says, "For years I was constipated, had terrible stomach distress after meals like a heaviness, bloating, gas, sour risings and 'heartburn'. I took Vendol and got satisfying relief from constipation, then all the other troubles quickly disappeared."

If you suffer from upset stomach, gas, sourness; belching, "heartburn," so nervous you can't sleep, biliousness, headaches, spots before your eyes, bad complexion, pains in your arms, shoulders, back or limbs and other symptoms when they are due to constipation or need of a mild kidney diuretic, take Vendol and see how quickly this alkaline extract of Roots and Herbs will give relief. All over this state reliable citizens are praising Vendol, so why don't you get this same relief, too?

Beanshooters and a Straw Man

DEEPEST mystery in the public eye today is Col Lindbergh's uncanny ability to produce hot and cold flashes in the Roosevelt administration Every time he opens his mouth he creates an orchestral emergency in Washington Sen Jimmy Byrnes was turned loose on him once Sen Key Pittman mowed him down time before last Apparently tired of halfway measures four (count 'em) New Dealers unlimbered their beanshooters and worked out on the colonel after his latest speech

This is puzzling Col Lindbergh continues to be an excellent aviator If he has any popular following as a statesman aside from what he can muster by his flying fame no one knows anything about it. It's hard to understand why the high priced help of the inner circle crowd should be spending their time demolishing a straw man If they want to get hot and bothered they could find more provocation in almost any barbershop with more than one chair

As far as that's concerned it's even hard to see what there is about the colonel's remarks to write home about He has said in effect, that the United States someday may have to tool along in this world without the now highly valued sympathy and succor of the British empire and should be taking some thought in advance of what's going to be done about it If there's anything in that so startling that Americans simply can't face it perhaps it's time for them to step to one side and listen to some of the facts of life

Canada's Migraine

THE CANADIAN government has a particular kind of headache with a habit of recurring at the most inconvenient intervals—the French nationality problem It has recurred again

The mayor of Montreal in the French-speaking province of Quebec has been incarcerated for his opposition to national conscription Pending appeal his honor will stay in a concentration camp for duration of the war

Americans who forget easily that Canada is at war with Germany and that many of its citizens are inclined to be resentful of a situation which caused their country to go to war without direct provocation will not forget such things easily in case there is a hitch in the defense of Great Britain

The problem of what may happen in case of Britain's retreat to this hemisphere making it a battleground for the old world's war is one of this nation's pieces of unfinished business

Mailbox Meddling

RURAL MAILBOX IMPROVEMENT WEEK is being observed in Marion county this week with the avowed purpose of sprucing up mailboxes.

It's a funny thing about rural mailboxes Only persons who worry about what they look like live in town Rural Mailbox Improvement week no doubt was thought up by some city slicker

As far as rural residents are concerned their mailboxes are all right just the way they are Some are pretty bad they admit and some are pretty good But on the whole the boxes are a whale of a lot better than the stuff put into them When the quality of the stuff improves there'll be more incentive to tidy up the boxes, repaint the boxholder's name straighten the post and please the critical eye of passersby from town whose own mailboxes if the truth were known are no sight for sore eyes either However because it's generally the townspeople who fill rural mailboxes full of trash duns and announcements they are coming to visit their country relatives there's little prospect of improvement

49 Cooks and a Stew

AN OFFICIAL call for uniform legislation dealing with subversive activities seditious activities etc etc among the various states reflects the federal government's apprehension about too many cooks spoiling the broth While the proposal passed along to the states by the President, via Atty Gen Jackson nominally is a plea for action actually it is a plea for moderation

It always has been difficult for state governments to realize that national defense is an obligation of the federal government As far down in the scale of government as city councils the urge to defend the nation burns brightly if sometimes disturbingly and destructively Desire to hold such grass fires of patriotism to a minimum undoubtedly is the thought behind the federal government's proposal for uniform state laws.

Necessarily, uniformity would receive its impetus from Washington Legislative action would be voluntary, depending on recognition by the several states that there is need to follow a pattern determined by the national government in the course of conducting national defense There is no place in the delicate tasks of guarding the United States and the rights of its citizens for too many cooks

News Behind the News

Draft Bill Originated in New York Military Training Camps Association.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Aug 8—The obscure origin of the draft bill has aroused suspicion in the country Prospective draftees and even editors have been writing in asking where this bill came from? How is it that what seems to be an administration approved bill happened to turn up under the sponsorship of a lame duck anti-New Deal senator and a Republican representative of no official position in the house? Why all the supporting propaganda activity from the military training camps association? Are the draft boards going to be fairly judicial or composed of political appointees capable of choosing their enemies and exempting their friends?

Paul Mallon

A personal investigation points to the following conclusions

The administration wanted such a measure The war department firmly and unanimously believed it necessary It has kept a similar bill in its safe all along But as this is a presidential campaign year and war is not yet imminent the government officials especially those in the White House deemed it strategic to let the measure originate and progress along non political lines which would relieve the New Deal from sole responsibility for it This is what has come to pass in the conclusion

Written by Association

The original bill actually was drawn by the Military Training Camps association of New York City a group of business men attorneys and reserve officers many of whom are Republicans Prominent in the group were Henry Stimson later appointed secretary of war and the man whom Stimson has not installed as his assistant secretary Judge Robert P Patterson Such men as President James B Conant of Harvard Julius Ochs Adler general manager of the New York Times Colonel 'Wild Bill' Donovan who was in the Hoover cabinet and the eminent New York attorneys Elihu Root Jr and Grenville Clark had a hand in it They have worked very close to the war department since their Military Training Camps association was formed and sponsored the Plattsburg training camp for business men early in the last war (with the cooperation of Leonard Wood who was then secretary of war)

Started Last May

Their decision to back the draft method was made at a meeting in New York last May 22 shortly after the German invasion of the Netherlands It was decided at that meeting the association should throw 90 per cent of its effort for compulsory military training and devote 5 per cent to sponsoring a new Plattsburg for men over CMTC age limits and 5 per cent toward aiding the Allies

A committee was appointed at the same meeting to come to Washington in furtherance of these ideas The war department also knew a presidential campaign is in progress and war was not at hand so it refused to sponsor directly or encourage the controversial aspects of the program. But the committee apparently received some very good personal advice somewhere in Washington, as their No 1 recommendation next showed in the bill introduced by Senator Burke and Representative Wadsworth

Choice of Backers

Usually organizations do not get Republicans or anti New Dealers to sponsor legislative proposals in a Democratic administration especially not in this one but there seems to have been a meeting of the minds involved in this matter If New Deal were to be avoided the choice of Representative Wadsworth as sponsor was not at all unnatural as he is the ablest experienced military authority in congress Senator Burke was chosen as co father because he is practically out of politics having been defeated for renomination and therefore is unsusceptible to political recriminations which may have frightened some members of the senate military affairs committee

Won Approval

When Mr Roosevelt thereafter got Stimson and Patterson in at the head of the war department, official departmental approval of the Burke Wadsworth bill became automatic Stimson's predecessor was ex secretary Harry Woodring who publicly announced his opposition to the draft It is believed in congress his departure from the administration may have resulted in whole or in part from his opposition to this course while in office although no direct evidence to sustain that viewpoint is set avail ble

However Mr Roosevelt Mr Stimson Mr Patterson and Chief of Staff Marshall who was always for the method have now publicly indorsed it and it is plodding its carefully selected non-political road in congress

Willkie Praised for Rebuking Audience That Booed Wallace at Des Moines

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WASHINGTON Aug 8—The incident at Des Moines, when Mr Willkie rebuked an audience which had booed Secretary Wallace will permit many to hope that the campaign can still be conducted in a manner which suits the gravity of the times For regardless of the outcome the campaign will be a national disaster if the partisans treat their opponents as enemies and seek to excommunicate them from the community of honorable and patriotic citizens Without self restraint and a certain chivalry in public men the Democratic system of government will crack under the fierce pressure of contemporary events Thus one of the indubitable causes of the ruin of France was the savagery with which the politicians attacked one another and intrigued against one another Not only did the furs of their partisanship render impossible a coherent and effective policy the manner in which public men assassinated the honor of public men bred a cynicism and contemptuous indifference which devitalized the people

Walter Lippmann

Since the early days of the republic there has been in this respect a sad deterioration of public morals It is true that Washington and Hamilton Adams and Jefferson were cruelly attacked and foully slandered by many editors and pamphleteers and agitators But one has only to read their own speeches and letters to see how they held themselves above rancor how consistently they maintained an elevation of feeling in their public utterances, how faithfully they preserved the courtesies of debate and that magnanimity which alone can dignify partisan conflict They were great gentlemen who gave order and unity and faith to the feeble discordant colonies and the example of their behavior was perhaps as important an element in their achievements as the wisdom and the courage with which they designed the Constitution and fixed the policies of the young republic

Talking Down to Public

It is usually believed by amateurs in politics that a public man cannot hope to be elected unless he talks down to the people As regards presidential candidates, at least, these amateur politicians are most certainly wrong At bottom they are wrong because as my old colleague F P A once remarked the average man is a good deal above the average The people who do not vote mechanically and as a matter of blind habit and are therefore open to persuasion in a campaign are quickly aware of it when they are being talked down to The effect is subtly irritating and repellent They feel the condescension, they feel the implied reflection on their intelligence and on their character

Moreover as they have common sense they know quite well that the great political issues are immensely difficult When they hear the man who is a candidate for the responsibility of dealing with these issues reduce them to catch phrases and to nursery fables about the industrious little bees and the pretty little pigs they are not impressed by what a human fellow he is they put up with it wondering whether he understands the issues and is equal to them So the candidate who really wishes to impress the people will at least once on every great question speak as a statesman should stating his position thoroughly even technically in a manner to disclose his command of the facts and his grasp of principles After that he and his supporters can simplify and explain and beat the drum and do the circus But if the candidate himself never does anything but popularize and vulgarize the net impression he leaves will be that when he talks down it is because he is already down there

Leader Needed

It is more than ever necessary in these days that a candidate for the highest office should convince the nation that they are in the presence of some one who is able to lead them not merely to wait for the Gallup poll and follow There is bewilderment the people would like a president who is lucid There is great anxiety the people would like a president who is resolute and imperturbable There is suspicion and division the people would like a president who is boldly magnanimous and chivalrous There is vast disorder in human affairs and there are tremendous tasks to be done the people would like a president who will organize their energies and thereby give them that courage and confidence which can be reached these days only as men ceasing to brood and worry impotently, are put to work doing efficiently some hard job they believe it is necessary to do.

Commission Sees That Army, Navy Get What They Need

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the National Defense Advisory commission to be published in the News to give the reader a complete picture of the nation's preparedness program

THE task of the National Defense Advisory commission is to see that the army and navy get what they need when they need it with no ifs ands or buts

Why the army and navy need these supplies is no concern of the commission How or where or when the army and navy will use its equipment is no concern of the commission That is the job of congress and the President as commander in chief of our armed forces

The responsibility of the National Defense Advisory commission is to find out what the army and navy need know where to get it and see that it is delivered The commission draws no specifications signs no contracts It merely advises aids in negotiations and facilitates production

In ordinary times the army and navy have no difficulty in obtaining supplies Times of emergency call for extraordinary expansion That's when we need experts men who know the complicated machinery of buying moving and manufacturing on a huge scale In normal times they head the great corporations that supply the nation In an emergency they serve the nation directly

Complicated Task

The raw materials must come from farms forests and mines Chemicals in vast quantities must be produced Important critical materials must be stored in advance Tin and rubber are already being accumulated in stock piles Synthetic rubber shows great promise for the future All our own raw materials are being catalogued

Availability of manufacturing facilities must be checked against transportation limitations and availability of manpower

If we call on our military forces for protection we cannot and must not expect them to go out without equipment. To see that this job is done is the responsibility of all of us.

To help guide this work the President called on the nation's leaders in seven fields whose special knowledge the nation needs They are serving now without pay Most of their expert assistants also serve without pay Others have been borrowed with clerical staff from government agencies

The primary task is to insure a continuous supply of raw materials for our factories. This responsibility is assigned to the Industrial Materials Division under Edward R Stettinius Jr He has resigned as Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation to serve for nothing a year He is in for the duration. Backed by an imposing array of experts Mr Stettinius will get everything from steel for armor plate to cotton cloth for handkerchiefs

Production Division

When it comes to making things for the Army and Navy — airplanes tanks machine guns uniforms miles of shoe laces—in fact all the supplies needed a Production Division is functioning under William S Knudsen on leave from his regular job as President of General Motors

Transportation Division

Watching the transportation lines to see that there are no snarls that will cut off vital supplies of raw materials is the task of Mr Ralph Budd President of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy Railroad In addition to seeing that Mr Stettinius raw materials move to Mr Knudsen's plants, the Division of Transportation is working on acquiring special rolling stock for handling troops and their equipment This rolling stock will be purchased by the government

Labor Division

To see that the Raw Materials Divisions forests mines and fields and the Production Divisions factories have a supply of manpower, Sidney Hillman president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union heads the Division of Labor Supply

Agricultural Division

The Agricultural Division, under Mr Chester Davis, of the Federal Reserve Board is at work on the problem of plant location for defense purposes. Surplus labor particularly in agricultural areas will be utilized

Consumer Protection

Aside from protecting the public against unjustified increases in the articles we need for daily existence the Division of Consumer Protection, under Miss Harriet Elliott Dean of Women in the University of North Carolina has laid the groundwork to prepare us physically to our defense responsibilities. The Division will emphasize the importance of health and public welfare in the defense program

Candidate Willkie

Herewith, Gratis, Are Reasons Why He Owns No Auto, Carries No Watch and Goes To Church.

By DAMON RUNYON

MRS ROBERT INNES of 1912 West street, Pueblo Colo (the old home town) wants to know two things about Wendell Willkie First, why he has never owned an automobile Second his church affiliations.

He is listed in Who's Who as Episcopalian same as President Roosevelt. We got in touch with Candidate Willkie's New York office and was stated there that Who's Who is correct The office said they get numerous inquiries as to Candidate Willkie's church More than on any other point. Mrs Willkie is Presbyterian

Wendell Willkie

If Willkie should be elected president, he would be the only Episcopalian to hold the office Those besides President Roosevelt were Washington Madison, Monroe Gen W H Harrison Tyler Taylor Pierce Johnson It is said that Benjamin Harrison inaugurated in 89 and the 23rd president was the first who was an actual member of a church

He was Presbyterian Other Presbyterian presidents were Jackson Polk Buchanan Cleveland and Wilson Four presidents were Unitarian—John Adams John Q Adams, Fillmore and Taft Three were Methodists. They were Johnson Grant and McKinley Van Buren and Theodore Roosevelt were Reformed Dutch Harding was Baptist and Coolidge Congregationalist Garfield was a member of the Disciples and Hoover of the Friends (Quakers)

THOMAS JEFFERSON and Abraham Lincoln did not claim membership in any denomination Hayes attended the Methodist church but never joined Franklin D Roosevelt is quite active in the affairs of his church He has the office of senior warden of St. James Church at Hyde Park and you must have seen newspaper pictures of him in his high hat and cutaway coat as he ushers attending service at the little church up the Hudson

If candidate Willkie should be elected president he would be the twenty-third lawyer on that job That is his profession though recent years he has been a utilities executive There are quite a number of presidents listed as lawyers but who never worked very hard at lawyering When you consult their histories you find their chief occupation seems to have been officeholding

If elected Willkie would be the first president who never previously held a public elective job An appointive membership on a school board in his home town of Elwood Ind appears to have been his only public officeholding It is related he got that position mainly to establish closer contact with the young lady school teacher who became Mrs. Willkie

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is listed as one of our lawyer presidents though it is not proper he won any considerable fame as a jouse in the Blackstonian lists The other lawyers were John Adams Jefferson Madison Monroe J Q Adams Jackson Van Buren Tyler Polk Fillmore Pierce Buchanan Lincoln Taft Hayes Garfield Cleveland, B Harrison McKinley Wilson and Coolidge

The statement that Candidate Willkie never owned an automobile is perhaps too sweeping He probably owns some right now in connection with his farms in Indiana But he does not own a car for town use He prefers riding in New York City taxicabs He finds them more convenient for his journeys from his uptown residence to his far downtown office

He does not fancy a chauffeur driven private car and he does not drive himself Mrs Innes living in a town in which like the average American city a large number of citizens operate their own cars wonders if Candidate Willkie's non-ownership of a car does not suggest a kinship with Clarence Closeclutch We think not He could probably run a limousine with a chauffeur and a footman too, on his taxi bills

CANDIDATE WILLKIE seems to be a fellow who just naturally hates to encumber himself with a lot of belongings His dispensing with a watch is in line with this aversion He never carries much money on his person He wears no jewelry not even cuff links He has no trinkets, no odds and ends in his pockets If you hand cupped the starters in a presidential race the way you do the horses with special reference to the weights you would have to give consideration to Candidate Willkie if only because he is in there under a feather as the boys say

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F DODDS

Because of a penchant for mathematically forecasting the outcome of elections Gen Charles H Grosvenor of Athens was nicknamed 'Old Figgers

The general achieved a national reputation as a political speaker during a career that began when he was elected to congress in 1884 He served continuously for 23 years Oldtime Chautauqua audiences remember him for his numerous debates with Missouri's Champ Clark

At times involved in the intricacies of Ohio politics, he was Ohio's Republican leader for the presidential boom of John T Sherman in 1888 and succeeded in winning Ohio's delegation to his candidate

The Ohioan with Clark Hepburn and Cannon ranked as leading debaters on the floor of the house

Trap for Fifth Columnists

COLUMBUS—Fingerprinting of every elector who goes to the polls Nov 5, has been suggested by Dr Harvey Walker, Ohio State professor of political science as one way to trap fifth columnists.

Dr Walker says in this way it would be possible to get positive identification of nearly 60 per cent of the adult population of the U S in one day He believes it could be done without great expense and without slowing up the nation's election machinery materially

A trained finger-printer can take all the impressions needed for positive identification in less than two minutes. Election officials he says, could be quickly trained to do the work.

"It would be a splendid way to find out about fifth columnists, he said Certainly the people of America are entitled to know if we have any agents of foreign governments working to undermine our country, who they are and what they are doing"

There are more advantages by far to having accurate identification handy when you want it than the so-called disadvantages that some people cite, he says. "Suppose I was killed in an accident and mutilated beyond recognition If they could get some skin of the fingers, the flesh beneath they could find out who I was in short order"

Dr Walker says that he has already benefited by the identification card he carries from the Ohio bureau of identification His card has his signature, photograph and the impression of the index finger

"I was in Chicago and ran out of cash" he explained "I went to a bank I had never been in before to cash a check I showed the teller my card He looked at my picture, checked my signature and gave me the money. He didn't check the finger-print but it was there to prove I wasn't trying to fool anybody.

Bravery of Polish Army in France Causes Experts To Revise Opinions

...ERN, SWITZERLAND—(Correspondence of The Associated ...)—A lot of high power military experts, attached to Swiss legations as the military attaches of foreign powers, and some of the Swiss too, have revised their opinion of Poland's army.

Three things contributed to the change of opinion.

First was the new realization of the power of Germany's war machine and its strength in the air.

Second was the way France caved up along with Belgium, Holland and the low countries in three days of warfare. Poland alone held out four weeks.

Third were the Poles themselves while in internment.

Discipline of the Best

...the night from the 19th to the 20th of last June alone some 28,000 troops crossed into Switzerland in the region of the Franches Montagnes in the Jura.

First to cross were about 12,000 French troops of various branches of the army. Some had their rifles. Some didn't. Many had never even seen a German. Few had participated in active fighting. All came because the Germans cut off their retreat to the south.

Later came the main units of 18,000 Poles. They too had been cut off in their retreat, but they came across with all their arms and even most of their motorized equipment. They were disciplined. They had not only almost all seen Germans but their units were all heavily carved up by casualties.

One Polish unit, about 2,000 strong, dashed up to the frontier with several batteries of 75s and 101's. A group of commanding officers conferred briefly with the Swiss command and were told that they would have to surrender both arms and ammunition.

The whole unit turned around and dashed off again. The commanding officer explained that they "still had some ammunition left" and were going to "give it to the Germans."

They gave it to the Germans and the Germans gave them the same back again. They couldn't get through. They came into Switzerland with all their guns and rifles—but with not a shell, not a cartridge and with many casualties.

Want To Reach England

Poles, in little groups of three and four, have been drifting into Switzerland ever since the armistice.

Some of them no sooner crossed the border and were disarmed than they tried to escape again. Swiss police stopped four recently headed back into occupied France. Yes, they knew it was occupied, but they wanted to get to England—somehow. They didn't know how.

In the internment camps they soon won the admiration of many Swiss by their discipline. In the beginning Swiss civilians took a special fancy to the French because French was one of Switzerland's three national languages and was far nearer than distant Poland.

Since then the Poles discipline, cleanliness, morale and comradeship have won them many friends. Some Swiss, including a Swiss visitor to internment camps quoted in the Baseler Nachrichten, found that the French "brought along some of the decaying smell of social and political disintegration." Those French were not peacetime soldiers.

The Poles, a proud lot, range in age between 17 and 22.

Separated from French

Originally many Polish units were placed in towns with French units, but, while the French considered the war ended and only wanted to get back home, the Poles wanted to fight somewhere, anywhere, and the two nationalities had to be separated.

Both the Poles and the Swiss authorities would like to know where they go from here.

3 HOLDUP SUSPECTS HELD AT DELAWARE

Admit Slugging and Robbing Man, Officials Report.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O Aug 8—Two Marysville youths Robert Mitchell and Albert Nelson are being held in the Delawsre county jail under bonds of $1 000 each following their arraignment late Tuesday before Justice John J Schweitzer on charges of robbery

They were apprehended this week by Sheriff M F Pinney of Delaware county and Sheriff Homer S Roosa of Union county and were brought to the Delaware county jail

Henry Beach also of Marysville now in the Bellefontaine jail also is facing a similar charge according to officials

Upon questioning the youths confessed they had slugged Jacob Reibel on May 31 at his home west of O Shaughnessy Dam and robed him of $6 30 and his gun officials said Mr Reibel suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries

Sheriff Pinney said the youths in jail here also confessed to a filling station holdup in Findlay in June in which they obtained nearly $40 Officials said the gun stolen from Mr Reibel has been identified as the gun used in a stickup of a filling station in Bellefontaine

Because of reluctance of the youths to account for their actions in the last six months Sheriff Pinney said he believed they may have been involved in similar deeds in other parts of central Ohio.

CCC Camp Plans Fair Exhibit To Picture Work Being Done in County

Camp Harding, Marion county's CCC camp will tell the story of its work and its aims in an exhibit at the Marion county fair Aug 20-23 H W Schaffner, camp superintendent, said today

The fair board has granted the camp an exhibit space in the vegetable hall where grange exhibits are housed, and camp officials are preparing a display that will include photographs, posters films and literature covering the story of the various kinds of work the camp and its staff perform

Pictures and films will show what has been done by other camps in Ohio because the work of the Marion camp has not progressed far enough to illustrate the broad program planned for the future

Conservation Methods

Drainage practices and methods of soil conservation will be emphasized Under the heading of soil conservation will come such matters as crop rotations cropping practices strip cropping and other good land use practices To a large extent the exhibit will deal with the phase of the camp program in which camp officials help farmers work out soil conserving programs for their individual farms Relocation of fences and farming across a slope instead of up and down the slope are typical examples of suggestions made to farmers, following a careful study of each farm's requirements Mr Schaffner emphasized that erosion control can take place on flat land as well as in rolling country, and that over a period of years the problem can become serious if the farmer fails to give it attention.

Many Remedies Simple

In most cases the remedy is a simple adjustment in the farming program that means little if any extra work to the farmer he said Cropping programs are studied carefully on farms where the owner has asked the CCC for assistance and attention is given to preserving the fertility of the soil as well as protecting the land from erosion he pointed out.

A comprehensive picture of these activities as well as the CCC camp boys work along public ditches will be shown in the fair exhibit If present plans materialize Mr Schaffner said A member of the technical staff of the camp will be on duty at the exhibit throughout the fair

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 14 miles of tiny tubes or filters to help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Casual Slaughters— By VIRGINIA HANSON

[illegible] Jeff back [illegible] He learns from Jeff that Sandra may have married him thinking he's worthless property and silver on it. Back to Perry from Key West for the [illegible] Back. It has vanished again.

CHAPTER THIRTY NINE

What Safe Place?

I SHUFFLED through the papers on top of the table I opened the table drawer. I even delved into the wastebasket. But it wasn't there. It wasn't anywhere in the two rooms or in the small bathroom.

I gave up the search finally. Jeff must have taken it after all. He hadn't trusted me even though I felt a flash of resentment. He knew what the notebook might contain.

But did he? Too late I realized that there might have been more than Sandra could have told in formation more damaging than the bit of scandal about Mimi and Jeff.

Jeff needn't have told me anything. He was afraid Sandra had put in that notebook.

I'd been a fool to help him to let it get out of my hands. What had he done with it—hidden it destroyed it? There had been plenty of time to do either on his way to the garage. I felt sure he no longer had it when I delivered him at the hospital. It was too large to be concealed in a pocket and he had not been carrying anything.

Was there any use trying to find it? Was there anyone to whom I could appeal for help? Gerald? I felt again that sinking of my heart the unwilling fright ening realization that Gerald was an impostor.

Felicia? The chaplain? But I would have to tell him that Jeff had been here and I was reluctant to do that. Perhaps he had not destroyed the notebook he might have hidden it in the car. The garage was locked and the key in my bag but I shrank from going out there alone in the dark. If the notebook was there it was safe until morning. Morning I told myself would be time enough.

I got my wardrobe suitcase from the closet and packed my things putting my papers all together in a compartment which served very well for the purpose. The rejected manuscript still unopened went in with them. Then I emptied the closet and the drawers of the mahogany chest for a look around the bathroom and sitting room for forgotten articles closed my typewriter in its traveling case and prepared to leave. At the door however I turned back on an unexplained impulse and dragged the wardrobe suitcase as far as the sitting room. But it was too heavy for me so I abandoned it there locked both the suitcases and the typewriter and put the keys in my bag. Then I turned out the lights went out and shut the door.

There was a light in Felicia's sitting room but she was in bed snoring a little. Remembering not to be too quiet I prepared for bed but she did not stir. And when, presently I turned off the light and stretched out on the vacant bed her soft little snore was still at work.

Normally that snore would not have bothered me but tonight I was overwrought. The instant I relaxed and was about to drift into sleep unwelcome thoughts would swarm around me like mosquitoes. There were mosquitoes too in the flesh—their own and mine. And there was that softly persistent snore that gradually became maddening.

Elemental Fear

Eventually I resigned myself to staying awake. I doubled my pillow against the head of the bed and sat up staring at the gray shape of a window wishing I would begin to grow lighter wishing I had a cigarette but afraid to get one for fear the smell of the smoke would disturb Felicia. I thought once of going into the sitting room closing the door between but that reminded me too vividly of the night before—of Sandra meeting death alone in my sitting room.

I felt the roots of my hair tingle with elemental fear. For the first time I thought of that snore as a comforting reminder that I was not alone.

Then I began to hear little things small sounds such as are always audible in a sleeping house but which tonight my disordered imagination magnified into evidence that evil was now creeping on stealthy feet through the corridors of the building.

Over the heavy thudding of my heart I heard boards creak under the slow weight of those feet heard the little slurrings of secret errands the whisper of pages as if someone were leafing rapidly through a magazine. My thoughts went back with mounting horror to the picture of Sandra sitting dutifully quiet while I worked turning the pages of a magazine until I was ready to scream at the relentless regularity of the repeated sound. My heart [illegible] painfully I pictured her sitting there now turning the pages waiting—waiting for what? What had she left undone?

Then so distinct that I knew I had not imagined it loud in the quiet night I heard the click of a door latch.

That sound woke me to a heightened fear. The click of the corridor door!

Almost relieved at the thought of a tangible menace I crept out of bed and tiptoed to the open door of the sitting room where I stopped for an instant to listen. There was no further sound. Presently emboldened by the continued quiet I reached a hand into the room and switched on the light.

There was no one there. I stood in the doorway for a moment getting my nerve back and feeling for the behind me. Felicia still slept. Well at least I could have a cigarette.

I crossed the room and turned the knob of the corridor door reflectively. But it was a little late for the precaution. I found my pocketbook on the table turned the remains of a pack of cigarettes and lit up. Then I pushed the door to the bedroom nearly shut selected a magazine from a stack on the table and settled down to read.

But not for long. I could not keep my mind on the words. Thoughts of my own kept nagging me—thoughts of Mimi and Colonel Pignant of Julia and Jeff and Sandra Sandin who had written down what she knew about several people and put it in a safe place. Not just what she knew about Mimi and Jeff several people.

Reducing it to simple terms Sandra was a blackmailer. She had blackmailed Jeff into marrying her. She had tried to blackmail Mimi into giving her the Ozark property which she believed to be valuable. A logical inference formed in my mind. Had she been blackmailing someone else?

The answer brought me to my feet. It was so obvious that I wondered why I had not seen it before.

She had been blackmailing the murderer!

Unbearable Excitement

It wasn't only to Jeff that she had thrown the taunt that it would do no good to kill her. She had recorded her knowledge and put it in a safe place. And she had thought that made her safe too.

What same place?

It seemed to me suddenly that Sandra was in the room with me trying to tell me something. I began to shake with a chill that was not so much fright as the unbearable excitement of knowing that I was on the verge of a revelation. This was something that concerned me. I was as sure of it as if I had seen her standing there pointing at me. When there was no one else she had turned to me even though she knew I was there, that surrounded by strangers she had confided her secret with me? She had not trusted me with it—she could not do that—but she could leave me some clue to it. If I had the wit to recognize the clue——

I settled myself with another cigarette let the magazine slip to the floor and went over everything I could remember concerning Sandra since she had come to my room Sunday night.

There was the shorthand notebook of course. That leaped to the attention. But in no sense could it be considered a safe place. Many people can read shorthand. Besides, it was too obvious. If it had been that important she would never have left it lying about.

A safe-deposit box?

Not here. I was fairly ssure of that. And the record she had made must be a recent one. There was no bank nearer than the next town and to the best of my belief she had not been off the post since Sunday except for the one time she had gone with me to the post office and then she had not been out of my sight.

The post office. She had mailed two letters.

"To friends who knew Ivan," she had said.

I remembered those letters. Thin one page affairs. Still—they might have included the few words necessary to incriminate someone—

And then I thought of the manuscript.

Little things which had no meaning for me at the time they happened recurred to me now in a new light. Sandra asking to use my typewriter and staying alone in my room all that afternoon. Her determination that the manuscript should be finished and sent off that very day. The questions she had asked concerning its destination and the time of its probable return if rejected. And the strange intentions with which she had watched me seal and stamp the envelope and hand it through the window to the postmaster.

What had the editor said?

With feverish fingers I extracted the letter once more from my bag and read it with new comprehension.

Sounds like two stories mixed up—

My housecoat was lying in the jumble of things in my overnight case. I pushed the letter back in to my pocketbook snatched up the robe and put on. The manuscript locked in my wardrobe case in the next room would bear investigating.

A familiar chill gripped me as I turned the key to unlock the door to the corridor but I gave myself no time to heed it. I looked off the light in the sitting room listened for a moment to Felicia's hardy slumber and gently quietly turned the doorknob.

IMPORTANT MISSION?

Projected South American tour of Camille Chautemps former vice premier in the Petain government of France has caused considerable speculation in many world capitals. Officially Chautemps mission is to secure the position of French possessions. He was portrayed by the French radio as going primarily on an informatory journey.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

With the Emergency Barracks Plans Set, Madge Finds Trouble Brewing in the Kitchen.

"I AM glad to hear that," Lillian said with a sober face but twinkling eyes. "I should hate to feel that you had laid out any work that would put me in a hospital with an injured spine for the rest of my days. But what do you think about my suggestions for pressing Mother Graham into service in the nursery?"

"I think it's a very good one," I said. "But, I think we ought to talk to Katherine about it first."

"That, of course," she assented. "Now, how shall we divide up the labors? I'm at your service."

"I must see Katie first," I said, thinking aloud, "and get her started on the library. Then we ought to see Katherine and Mother Graham and Miss Whitlock and Edith."

"Count me out there," she interpolated hastily. "I'll help you anywhere else. I'll work my dainty white fingers to the bone, but I'll have no part of that lady. She'd throw me out of the room anyway, if I should barge in—so—"

"I'm not planning that you should see her," I said, mentally agreeing with her last words. "But if you'll see Olga and Olina, also Mary and Noel and tell them about the plans for sleeping quarters, while I'm seeing Katie, I'll be most grateful. Our royal guests already know about keeping to their rooms, but impress that prohibition on Mary and Noel. They are the ones my father wishes most to guard."

Emergency Barracks

"I'll put 'em all on their hont," she gibed, walking to the door with an airy farewell wave of her hand. But I did not go directly to the kitchen in search of Katie. Instead, I took a note pad and pencil from my desk, made a diagram of the room, jotted down on one page the pieces of furniture which must be removed to the living room, on another the location of the cots and other furniture which must be brought down to our "emergency barracks" and sketched in their location on the rough diagram I had made. I knew there was no use enlisting Katie's help until I had every detail at my finger tips.

When I had finished, I went to the kitchen, reflecting upon the grumbling and resentment most maids would give me for so much extra hard work so suddenly thrust upon them, completely upsetting their routine.

I knew better than to ask Katie what was the matter. That simply would send her into a more violent paroxysm. With the wisdom born of long years of conjugating her moods and tenses, I quietly sat down in another chair keeping my eyelids over my eyes, but watching her from beneath my eyelashes. I knew that her curiosity would get the better of any other emotion in another few seconds, and I was not surprised to see her lift a corner of her apron with extreme caution, shoot a glance at my downcast eyes, and jerk the apron back again. Then she quavered: "Who coom in?" with dramatic intensity.

"It is I, Katie, Mrs. Graham," I said humoring her mood, although I felt more like boxing her ears. "I need you very badly for some secret work my father wants done, but if you're sick, why—"

I had struck the note to which she never fails to respond. She sprang to her feet, sweeping the apron down from her tear-swollen face.

"I no seeck," she said. "I shoost so mad at dot Jeem, dot beeg boonch of soun greens, I have to call my hoosband, dot I could shoost wring his fool neck, shoost like dose scheekens he vunt keel for me."

DELEGATION OF EAGLES TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Harold Haughn, president of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. Eagles, will head a group of six from the local lodge to attend a membership meeting Sunday at Toledo. Others include Gene Williams, chairman of the local membership drive, and four captains of drive teams, Carl Lehner, Ray Schlagenhauf, Forest Roush and Robert Pace.

Plans for this national convention in Chicago, Aug. 17 were discussed at the lodge meeting last night. The Marion lodge will send 40 members of the band, 30 women's auxiliary members and 50 in a marching club. The group will take part in the parade Sunday afternoon and return to Marion that night.

NEW COACH EMPLOYED FOR WHARTON GRIDDERS

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 8—Donald Renninger of Uniontown, Pa., has been employed as coach and high school teacher in the Wharton schools. Renninger, a graduate of Findlay college this spring, is a prospective member of the Ohio All-Star collegiate football team which will play the Cleveland Rams at Cleveland Sept. 4.

WINS TARGET TROHPY

By The Associated Press

YORKLYN, Dela., Aug. 8—Ohio's Joe Hiestand has annexed another trap shooting trophy permanently. The Hillsboro expert captured the eighteenth 500-target Marshall marathon yesterday by clipping 498 clays. His third victory in the event gave him title to the Marshall cup. He won in 1937 with 497 and in 1939 with 499.

DEFENSE

edged the vote as a clear-cut test of sentiment on the main controversy — whether conscription should be ordered to supplement the militia or whether voluntary army enlistments should be sought. Anti-conscription leaders supported Danaher's proposal.

Draft Bill Next

As soon as the guard bill is acted upon, the senate will take up the Burke-Wadsworth conscription measure. A closely-knit group of senators met yesterday in the office of Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) to plan for a "full debate, no compromise fight" against the legislation.

"I hope that there will be the maximum number of speeches," said Senator Nye (D-N.D.), one of the foes, but he added that this did "not at all" mean a filibuster.

Possibility of a compromise, Nye said, was not discussed. The bill as approved by the senate military committee would require registration of all men from 21 to 30, inclusive, followed by a selective draft for a year's training.

Hearing Reopened

The conscription bill probably will not come up in the house until the senate has acted, because its military committee is going to reopen its hearings. Among the compulsory military service, and John J. Pershing, an advocate of new witnesses will be General Harry Woodring, former secretary of war who is supporting the voluntary enlistment plan.

SON OF PROFESSOR AT OHIO WESLEYAN DIES

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 8—Funeral service was conducted today for Charles William Conger, 21, son of Professor and Mrs. Allen C. Conger, at their home in Delaware. Conger died Tuesday of an attack of brain fever suffered seven weeks ago at Lakeside where he was employed in a hotel.

He would have begun his senior year this fall at Ohio Wesleyan university where his father is professor and registrar. Besides his parents a brother, John, and a sister, Martha, survive.

GERMANY CLAIMS 34 RAF PLANES DOWNED

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 8—The German high command announced in a special bulletin today that 34 British planes had been shot down and 12 ships totaling 55,000 tons had been sunk today.

In addition, the high command said, a tanker of 6,000 tons and two steamers totaling 9,000 tons were sunk by speedboats last night.

Twelve ships went down during an attack on the German air force on a convoy in the channel this morning, the announcement said.

TENNIS SEMI-FINALS TO BE PLAYED TONIGHT

Semi-finals of the doubles' tennis tournament, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. will be played tonight at the Y courts, Bob Hicks, boys' work secretary at the Y, reported today. Finals are scheduled for tomorrow.

Wayne Short and Gene Roberts defeated Paul Schwemley and Grant Musser III yesterday, 1-6, 6-4 and 6-4. They will meet Ralph Carhart and Dr. R. E. Eicher at 5:30 p. m. today in the semi-finals.

Tom Clark and Paul Hoffman, heavy favorites to win the tournament, defeated Dav Hurst and Dave Rochford, yesterday, in two straight sets, 6-2 and 6-4. The winners chalked up a previous victory Tuesday by downing Bud Burke and Bill Leffler, 6-8, 6-2 and 6-1. They will play the winner of tonight's semi-final match at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow for the championship.

FOREST GLEN HEARING HELD

Seek To Determine Jurisdiction Over Parks; Referee in Bankruptcy Presides.

...earing of litigation involving ...t Glen, Inc., a holding company under which three memorial ... Forest Glen of Marion, ... Rest of Columbus and Glen ... of Springfield, were operated, was resumed in common ... courtroom yesterday before ... S. Jackson, United States ... commissioner, after having been recessed since last week. The hearing, to determine jurisdiction over Glen Rest and Glen ... memorial parks in connection with bankruptcy proceedings ... by Forest Glen, Inc., in the federal court at Toledo, was adjourned until Friday morning.

... T. Joseph of Columbus, ... for Paul D. Smith of Marion, trustee in bankruptcy for Forest Glen, Inc., contends along with ... that the Columbus and ...field memorial parks are ... the jurisdiction of the federal bankruptcy court at Toledo. ... F. Levinson of Columbus, attorney for the Columbus and ...field memorial parks, contends that the parks, located in the southern Ohio district are not ... the jurisdiction of the Toledo court.

Among the Witnesses

Among the witnesses testifying yesterday were Maurice K. Topping of Columbus, co-counsel with ... Levinson in early proceedings instituted against the memorial ... Judge Henry Scarlett, a ... Franklin county common ... judge, Clyde Stayre, superintendent of the Springfield park ... Charles A. Clunk and W. C. ... of Marion, original trustees ... Forest Glen, Inc.

Charges and counter-charges were made during the proceedings ... which no less than seven prominent attorneys took part in the ... examining of various witnesses. ... 50 persons were on hand ... spectators.

... Boyd testified that on "several occasions he was "warned by Mr. Levinson" of "possible ... action" if he did not co-operate. He said that Levinson ... to be "appointed attorney ... Forest Glen" in 1938 following ... election to the presidency of the association on the ... that he could better carry ... the business of the three ... since he already was attorney for the parks at Columbus ... Springfield.

Cite Influence

Attorneys representing Mr. ... and Mr. Klunk apparently attempted to bring out that ... would have resigned from ... board of trustees except ... influence brought upon ... by others interested in gaining control of the three parks. ... Klunk also testified that following his resignation Mr. Levinson made the "threat that he would send 30 or 40 people to the penitentiary on account of the ...

Among attorneys active in the hearing are Ben F. Levinson, representing Glen Rest and Glen Haven memorial parks, Maurice K. Topping and Paul Griffith, co-counsel with Levinson, all of Columbus. Grant E. Mouser Jr., attorney for the present Forest Glen Memorial Park association, J. ... Jacoby, attorney for Forest Glen, Inc., in bankruptcy, both of Marion. Whitney T. Joseph of Columbus, counsul for Paul D. Smith, who is trustee in bankruptcy for Forest Glen, Inc., and Edwin Judy, attorney for the original trustees of Forest Glen Memorial park, both of Columbus.

Soil Conservation Program Discussed at CCC Camp Here

Advisory Committee Meets with Officials To Map Work in County.

The Marion County Agricultural Advisory committee consisting of farmers representing nearly every township and farm organization in the county met with the soil conservation service technical staff at the CCC camp last night. The vocational agricultural teachers were represented by Ralph E. Young of Prospect, Milfred Schmidt of Pleasant township and J. W. Tingley of Caledonia-Claridon school.

The purpose of the meeting was to explain the activities of the soil conservation service in Marion county up until the present time as well as future plans. The advisory committee was set up to guide the agricultural relationships between the soil conservation service and the farmers of Marion county.

Duty of Committee

Such matters as applications for drainage and soil conservation work will be handled principally through this committee. They will direct the work plan of the service so that demonstrations of drainage and soil conservation will appear uniformly throughout the county some three years from now. In other words, the committee is responsible for seeing that by the time the service and the CCC camp leave Marion county that effective demonstrations of drainage and soil conservation work will have been established.

It was pointed out by H. W. Schaffner, camp superintendent, that it would be physically impossible for the soil conservation service to demonstrate drainage work on every ditch in the county.

It will be up to the advisory committee to impartially select from the applications the ones which seem to have the most merit from a demonstrational point of view, according to Mr. Schaffner.

H. R. Heathman, assistant area conservationist of the soil conservation service of Lima, reviewed the history of the soil conservation service and its relationship to the CCC.

Schaffner Explains Work

The status of the drainage work in Marion county was explained by Mr. Schaffner.

Erosion conditions in Marion county were described by J. L. Dougherty, conservationist, when he said, "a recent survey of 25 farms scattered over Marion county showed soil losses up to 50 per cent on slopes from 1 to 4 per cent, losses were much greater on steeper areas, he explained.

"Much of this good top soil which is leaving the farmers of Marion county settles in drainage ditches, clogging up the channels and rendering each individual farm drainage system useless and ineffective," he said. "Proper soil conservation measures adopted in the watersheds of these ditches will keep soil on the farm where it belongs."

Jack Shriver, soil conservation service of Dayton explained how soil conservation practices would work on Marion county farms. He pointed out that conservation farming measures were just as easy to use as the usual farming methods, but it was merely a matter of getting accustomed to them.

Members of Committee

Foster A. Davidson was chairman of the committee and H. W. McElhaney, secretary. It was decided that meetings would be held monthly.

Other members of the committee include Harry Hall of Salt Rock township, Clyde W. Hinamon of Grand Prairie township, Harold Beers of Scott township, Harry Gracely of Big Island township, Howard McCurdy of Marion township, Lawrence Douce of Claridon township, Clarence Trumbo of Bowling Green township, Ray Klinefelter of Green Camp township, C. A. Kiel of Pleasant township, Victor Kreis of Richland township, H. G. Rengert of Waldo township, J. W. Tingley of Claridon and Caledonia townships, M. E. Schmidt of Pleasant township, R. E. Young of Prospect township, W. H. McElhaney of Richland township, S. L. Kannel of Grand Prairie township, Fred Baldinger of Tully township, Ralph Carey of Montgomery township, D. J. McNeal of Prospect township, O. L. Johnson of Big Island township, Lester Watts of Salt Rock township, C. P. Harper of Green Camp township, Homer Porteus, county agent; C. B. Casto of Green Camp, Burdet Hunter of LaRue, A. J. Bishop of Morral, and Loften Phillips of Waldo township.

U. S. MAY TAKE WAR DEBT OUT OF FRENCH FUNDS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today that the United States was considering the possibility of taking World war debt payments out of frozen French funds in this country.

When the subject of war debts was raised at his press conference, the treasury chief said that before French funds are released he wants to see "what happens to American investments and debts over there."

HOUSE VOTES TO LET U. S. SHIPS CARRY REFUGEES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—The house has voted to let American ships bring refugee children from war-torn nations to the United States, but the senate has yet to act.

The measure, approved yesterday without a roll call, would authorize transportation of youngsters under 16 on unarmed, unconvoyed American ships, provided safe conduct was assured by belligerent nations.

The neutrality act now prevents American vessels from entering combat areas.

To be positive: to be mistaken at the top of one's voice.—(Bierce)

Bremerton, Wash., Boom Town Again As Navy Pushes Building Program

BREMERTON, Wash. — Men with good jobs are sleeping in the park and some in the city jail here in Bremerton, although the town has no railroad and not a single important private industry.

Rents are high and there are few houses to be had at any price. The schools crowd 1,300 students into a building intended for 800 and even greater enrollment is expected in September. Shiny new autos stand on the streets all night because garages are being used for bedrooms. Taverns are crowded, store registers ring dollars steadily, and the sidewalks are jammed.

Good Old Days

For the good old days are back—better than ever—in this World war boomtown that clusters around the Puget Sound navy yard.

There's little salty atmosphere in Bremerton. But the city pulses with the tide more than old Salem, Mass., in its palmiest days. At the front door are the ferries, the huge naval construction yards, immense drydocks. Torpedoes are stored on the town's back porch; and the song the city sings is the clanging melody of American naval preparedness.

While most cities are just beginning to know there is a defense program, Bremerton is already in the full tempo of wartime activity, though it is one of the cities farthest removed from the European war.

In 1867, U. S. naval authorities recommended that a ship yard be established on the great peninsula because of the deep sheltered waters and the natural defenses.

Big Ships Come In

This has become a huge, sprawling establishment capable of building or repairing almost any ship. More than 7,800 men are employed now. Two destroyers were launched a few weeks ago, and others are on the way. Aircraft carriers, cruisers, battle wagons and auxiliaries follow each other here for repairs.

Bremerton got its first big push toward city status during the World war. Then, as now, there were more jobs than beds in the town. Then the war ended and the bottom fell out of the city.

A year or so ago the naval building program got under way again. The population began rising in a flood. The 200 homes built this year were snapped up. Nearly every night, six or seven men apply for sleeping room in the jail.

"And they have money in their pockets, too," a desk officer says.

Other uncounted dozens sleep in the park, in trailers and autos along the highways, anywhere.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Summer Food

SALADS are good dishes to depend on in hot weather, and to build up your resistence for the fall and winter season. Salads alone make a good hot weather meal.

The foods which go into salads are unadulterable and not easily spoiled, and contain many necessary nutritious ingredients.

All nutrition experts emphasize the necessity of a generous supply of vegetables and fruits. The vegetables and fruits are the most important sources of iron to the body and if we limit them we cause a certain sluggishness of blood formation and an entire lack of reserve iron such as is normally found in the liver, spleen and bone marrow of healthy, well nourished individuals.

Extra Iron

In a study of an experimental dietary reported by Dr. H. C. Sherman, of Columbia University, New York City, found that a free use of vegetables, whole wheat bread and the cheaper sorts of fruits with milk and eggs resulted in a gain of thirty per cent in the iron content of the diet, while the protein and fuel value remained practically the same as in the mixed and more expensive diets obtained under the same market conditions.

The effect of apples on the absence of the medical profession is no mere superstitution. Growth promoting Vitamin A is abundant in certain vegetables—such as spinich, carrots, corn, cabbage, brussels sprouts, peas and watercress. In their raw state they contain the scurvy-preventing vitamin C. Vegetables and fruits tend to counteract acidity. Calcium used in bone building is abundant in peas and beans and the leaves of plants. Sodium, potassium, iron, phorphorus and sulphur—necessary minerals for the body—are found in the root vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. R. H.—"How much salt water should the average individual drink to compensate for the loss of salt through perspiration?"

Answer—Except in special occupations, where there is great loss by perspiration drinking salt water is not indicated. The salt used in cooking is sufficient replacement for ordinary perspiration loss. Thirst is the best guide to the amount of water needed.

W. A. C.—"An X-ray shows a wisdom tooth grown fast to my jaw bone. It is a perfect tooth and does not bother me. Should I have it taken out?"

Answer—If it does not bother you—by this I mean if there is no facial neuralgia or infection—leave it alone.

D. C.—How can one overcome a slight roundness of the shoulders? Are shoulder braces needed?"

Answer—I would not advise shoulder braces for a slight roundness of the shoulders. This can be overcome by exercise such as standing up against the wall and throwing the shoulders back until the tips of the head, shoulders and buttocks and the heels all touch the wall. Standing straight, sitting straight, and walking straight all help out.

A two-year-old Diesel-electric locomotive on an eastern railroad recently completed 265 consecutive daily runs of 782 miles at an average speed of 56 miles an hour.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR OPENING OF CITY SCHOOLS

16 Pupils Registered, Schedules Of Others Changed.

Sixteen pupils not previously registered completed their registration and about 30 schedule changes were made at Harding High school the first three days of this week, Principal O H P Snyder said today

He said he contemplated setting another period the last of this month for accepting registrations and making schedule changes in an effort to avoid confusion on the opening day of school Sept 9

Records show that at the end of the first week of school last year 31 additional registrations were made most of them by pupils from out of the city

At the close of the school year in 1939 there were 1 060 pupils registered for the 1939-40 school year, according to records at the principal's office and last June 1,047 pupils registered for the coming school year

Reds Lose To Cubs 5-3, Lead Cut To 5 Games; Indians Stop Sox, 9

Lou Boudreau Slams 2 Homers To Play Hero's Role in Tribe's Win.

By The Associated Press

Gentlemanly Lou Boudreau speaks softly—but not his bat

On his loud bat-talk the Cleveland Indians depended heavily today as they met the St Louis Browns in a double header opening a six game series

Tigers Idle Today

A victory in both games would put Cleveland in first place by a half game. The Detroit Tigers now leading by that margin are idle today

Boudreau's performance yesterday gave baseball a new larrupin Lou His two homers—the eighth and ninth—and a timely single drove in six runs to lead Cleveland to a 9 to 3 victory over the Chicago White Sox for three out of their four games

This was the shortstop's way of celebrating the first anniversary of joining the Tribe He and Ray Mack second baseman were called up from Buffalo just a year ago Mack his left side injured was on the bench yesterday

Lou Boosts Average

Lou's first homer came at the start of the fourth He connected again in the seventh scoring Al Smith and Ben Chapman ahead of him and his single drove in the first two runs of the four-run ninth inning Boosting his average to 319 he now leads the Indians batting

Smith started on the mound for Cleveland but retired in the seventh after yielding all 10 of Chicago's safe blows Harry Eisenstat saved the game for him allowing no hits Both pitchers had a perfect day at bat Smith getting two hits and Eisenstat one in as many trips to the plate

GAME POSTPONED

The game scheduled tonight between Keytown and Young Democrats in the Industrial league has been postponed because the Democrats are participating in the semi-finals of the district softball tournament at Upper Sandusky

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates famous August foldups are unfolding finally into some semblance of the flower everybody expected from Frankie Frisch

The club is no marvelous machine but it's going places faster than any other outfit in the major leagues at the moment

3-Game Sweep

In two days it has swept three games from the St Louis Cardinals who up until this week were some hot shakes themselves, and right now must be considered as a possible first division finisher

Early in the season the Pirates sank practically out of sight by losing 16 out of 18 games But now they have won seven straight and 16 out of their last 20

They nosed out the Cardinals 10 9 in the first game yesterday although they were outhit 18 9 In the nightcap the bold Buccos made a dozen runs on 13 hits to win 12-6 Pitcher Max Butcher batter in four of the tallies himself

Reds Give Ground

The Cincinnati Reds gave more ground as they dropped a 5 3 10 inning battle to the Chicago Cubs who thus broke Paul Derringer's winning string at seven games

The Brooklyn Dodgers made the most of this opportunity by overwhelming the New York Giants 8 4 in a night game that was intended to honor Mel Ott and drew a crowd of 53 897 to the Polo Grounds

The Boston Bees continued to plague the poor Phillies taking a night game 6 3 with Eddie Miller and Carvel Rowell each hitting homers with a mate aboard

Tigers Win, 7 5

The American league race remained unchanged The pace setting Detroit Tigers outlasted the St Louis Browns to win 7-5, the Cleveland Indians crushed the Chicago White Sox 9 3 and New York's tottering Yankees divided a doubleheader at Boston but it took a three run rally in the ninth inning of the nightcap to end their five-game losing streak

The Red Sox won the opener 10-7 with a 16 hit offensive concentrated in the middle innings, but in the second game were slowed down to eight hits by Lefty Marius Russo In the final frame Tom Henrich batted across two Yankee runs with a triple and then scored on a single

Ohio Is Host This Month To Nation's Top Target Events

Gunners Aim for Targets, That's Only Similarity in Classics at Vandalia and Camp Perry.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O, Aug 8 — It won't be long now, until Ohio entertains again the two most paradoxical shooting events in the world—the Grand American trapshoot at Vandalia Aug 19-23 and the National Rifle-Pistol matches at Camp Perry, Sept 1-21

Here are just a few days in which the competitions—each the largest of its kind in the world—differ

At Camp Perry there is no charge for spectators the National Rifle association and the federal government hoping to get the greatest possible number of witnesses at Vandalia there is a charge the object of which is not revenue, but to keep down the number of spectators (It doesn't work for at least 10 000 will be on hand for the grand finale, the Grand American handicap)

At Vandalia you are able to determine just what each marksman is scoring, for you can see the targets break as the charge of shot strikes it at Camp Perry you can watch two men, side by side fire all day and you can't pick the champion from the two until the scores are posted that night (The Camp Perry targets are from 100 to 1,000 yards from the firing line)

At Camp Perry you may enter any match for 50 cents and get all the free practice and competitive ammunition you want for nothing at Vandalia the entry fees range as high as $25 and you must buy your own practice shells

If you win a match at Camp Perry, the best you can get is a medal or a trophy if you win at Vandalia you may take down as high as $5 000 in cash, along with a wagonload of silver

At Vandalia if you are a professional, you may shoot for nothing except trophies while the amateurs fire for cash just the opposite of the accepted amateur-professional setup in other sports.

If you enter the Vandalia classic the chances are you'll live at one of Dayton's better hotels along with the other shooters at Camp Perry you live in a tent sleep in an army cot between army blankets take your shower in an army bathhouse, and eat at the army mess

They all have fun these shooters but here's one word of advice to heed if you get to talking with one of them Don't try to tell him it's more difficult to hit a 30-inch bullseye with a 30-30 at 1000 yards than it is to hit a clay target with a shotgun at 25 yards or vice versa Each side will argue until doomsday that its sport is the tougher, so the best thing to do is stay out of the controversy

Reds Take Lacing To Stay in Throes of Serious Slump

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI Aug 8 — The trouble with the Cincinnati Reds is that they don't seem to realize that the Brooklyn Dodgers don't realize that they (the said Dodgers) went down for the count of 10 two weeks ago

The situation isn't desperate yet but it is a fact that the Dodgers have shaved four games off the nine game lead once held in the National league by the Cincinnati Reds and they have done it since three straight lickings by the Reds at Ebbetts Field

Today you see the Reds in the throes of their worst slump of the season and the Dodgers again threatening to make it a knock-down-drag-out garden party

Bill Lee of Gabby Hartnett's bumptious Chicago Cubs added the latest defeat for the Reds with his 5-3 victory in yesterday's 10-inning engagement Paul Derringer was the victim mainly of a series of soft pitches in the tenth when the Cubs scored three runs.

LEGION ALL-STARS PLAY MANSFIEL

Coca-Cola's 4-3 Win Over Anthony Is Loop Feature

Marion Steam Shovel, Coca-Cola and Marion-Reserve Power won last night's Oldtimers loop tilts.

The powerful Shovel squad scored four times in the fourth to break a 1-1 deadlock and defeat Post Office, 8-3, at the Shovel grounds. Mautz tossed six-hit ball for the winners while his mates bunched 10 blows off Lingo.

Presidents field was the scene of a battle between Anthony and Coca-Cola the latter winning out 4-3. The winners chased three runs across in the initial frame. Anthony tied the score with one tally each in the second fifth and seventh innings only to have the beverage boys push the deciding run across in their half of the seventh. Coca Cola garnered five safeties to the losers four.

Marion-Reserve Power unleashed a six run attack to overwhelm Isaly 9-6. Merchant swatted a home run in the fifth for one of his team's eight base hits. Applegate ace mound artist for the winners held the milkmen to seven hits.

ADA IN TOURNEY

KENTON, Aug. 8 — The Ada City team today was assured of a berth in the district softball tournament by defeating the State Highway squad 11 to 3. However identity of the second qualifying team remained in doubt as the Kenton Ohio Powers and Forest city team county champions last year tangled for the other qualification. The county championship game will be played Friday night.

CATCHING A FOWL

WHAT IF PROFESSIONAL baseball players did exactly what sports writers say they do? Just for the fun of it San Francisco and Hollywood Pacific Coast league players decided to act out literally the familiar phrases describing the games. This is the first of a series showing the results.

WAXLER'S TEAM ON TOP IN PROSPECT LOOP RACE

Harry Waxler's No. 3 club took the reins in the Prospect softball circuit last week by copping two straight games. Paul Keller's No. 1 outfit slid into second place after dropping its first tilt of the second round of play.

The hard hitting No. 3 aggregation won its third and fourth games by nosing out the No. 4 squad 12-10 Monday night and decisioning No. 2 team 13-12 Friday night. The winners are now a half game in front.

Team 1 playing without the services of Green and Long two of the league's leading sluggers bowed before the No. 4 delegation 6-3. The latter is far from being out of the pennant race as it has two games to play this week one with the No. 1 team and another with Ralph Roberts cellar dwelling No. 2 club. If No. 4 should win both games and No. 1 defeats No. 3 the three teams would be in a tie for first place.

SEEKS SECOND TITLE
By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 8— Par and the 72-hole record of 307 strokes were about the only opposition remaining today for Elizabeth Hicks in her bid for a second straight women's western golf derby title. As the field teed off for the final 18 holes over Westmoreland's acreage the Long Beach, Calif. golfer had a 230 total, 11 strokes ahead of her nearest challenger Elmae Williams of Chicago.
